

Sorry for the belated wishes but Mugsy and I wish you all the best in 2010!! I have thought of emailing you several times over the past month but time has just slipped away from me. My home is very lively now with our precious addition, Mugsy. She has provided me with hours and hours of laughter. I am truly amazed by how intelligent she too. It takes her absolutely no time to learn anything and everything including things that she figures out on her own. She keeps me on my toes. :) Anyone that has met her instantly likes her. I take her everywhere I can with me and strangers are always commenting on how cute she is. She has had good reports from the vet and she was 8.3lbs at the last checkup on Dec 16th. I think she is over 10lbs now going by my home scale. I can't believe how quickly she's growing but she's so healthy I guess I shouldn't be surprized. So after the first day here, Mugsy has pretty much taking over the household and some days I don't know who is teaching who. lol. She has so much energy and she's so inquizative that I think she would give her brother, Scrappy-Doo run for his money now. I also think that Mugsy takes after her dad, Tucker alot. She loves to play tug-a-war. She also loves to play with a ball. She learned to sit within the first week here and is daily learning new things. Like over a couple days during the Christmas break, my brother taught her to shake a paw. I am looking at enrolling her into 'puppy kindergarden' now that her shots are almost all done by next month I think she'll enjoy socializing with other puppies. Anyways this was just going to be a quick note about how much I am enjoying her and could not imagine my life without her now. Thank you for raising such a wonderful puppy and I have enclosed a few pictures of my princess. They aren't the best pictures as she is so busy it's hard to get a good picture.

All the best in 2010!

Susanne
